About RobecoSAM

Founded in 1995, RobecoSAM is an investment specialist focused exclusively on Sustainability Investing. It offers asset management, indices, impact analysis and investing, sustainability assessments, and benchmarking services. The company's asset management capabilities cater to institutional asset owners and financial intermediaries and cover a range of ESG-integrated investments, featuring a strong track record in resource efficiency-themed strategies. Together with S&P Dow Jones Indices, RobecoSAM publishes the globally recognized Dow Jones Sustainability Indices (DJSI) as well as the S&P ESG Index series, the first index family to treat ESG as a standalone performance factor using the RobecoSAM Smart ESG methodology. Based on its Corporate Sustainability Assessment (CSA), an annual ESG analysis of over 3,900 listed companies, RobecoSAM has compiled one of the world's most comprehensive databases of financially material sustainability information. The CSA data is also included in USD 86.5 billion of assets under management by the subsidiaries of the Robeco Group.

RobecoSAM is a sister company of Robeco, the Dutch investment management firm founded in 1929. Both entities are subsidiaries of the Robeco Group, whose shareholder is ORIX Corporation. As a reflection of its own commitment to advancing sustainable investment practices, RobecoSAM is a signatory of the PRI and UN Global Compact, a member of Eurosif, Swiss Sustainable Finance, Carbon Disclosure Project (CDP), Ceres and Portfolio Decarbonization Coalition (PDC). As of December 31, 2016, RobecoSAM had client assets under management, advice and/or license of approximately USD 16.1 billion.

Sustainability – the essence of value

Why sustainability?

Sustainability-related megatrends are changing our world – and are having a measurable impact on companies' top and bottom lines. Long-term challenges such as demographic change, resource scarcity, pollution and climate change are redefining public policy and regulatory frameworks, and as a result, business environments and investment outcomes. Such challenges create new opportunities and risks that companies must address today to remain competitive into the future. Firms that find successful solutions to these challenges should be well positioned to outperform their peers.

“Sustainability is no longer just an afterthought – it is vital to a company’s ability to prosper over the long run. At RobecoSAM, we believe that integrating sustainability data into traditional financial analysis leads to better-informed investment decisions.”

Focus on Sustainability Investing

RobecoSAM is an investment boutique focusing exclusively on sustainability investing. Our entire range of Sustainability Investing offerings is based on two guiding principles:

We passionately believe that the integration of financially material sustainability criteria into traditional financial analysis helps us to evaluate companies' quality of management and future performance potential. This in turn enables us to identify attractive investment opportunities that can generate value for our clients.

This conviction has enabled us to develop a broad range of sustainability solutions for investors and companies.

The Corporate Sustainability Assessment: at the core of what we do

Initiated in 1999, our Corporate Sustainability Assessment (CSA) is an annual assessment of companies' sustainability practices. Each year we analyze over 3,900 listed companies around the world based on between 80-120 industry-specific questions focusing on economic, environmental and social factors that are relevant to the companies' success, but that are under-researched in conventional financial analysis.

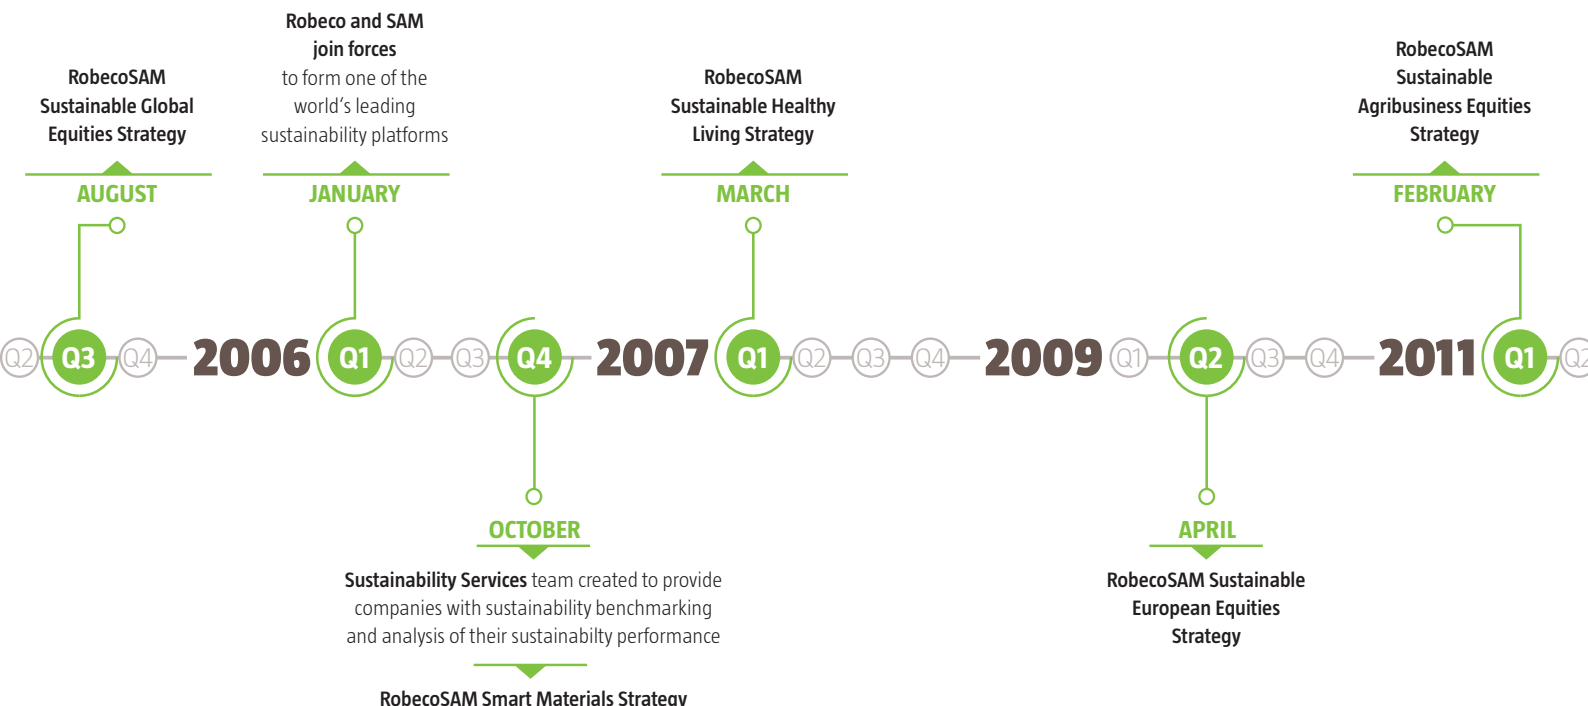

The CSA has given us unparalleled direct access to companies and their business practices, enabling us to build one of the world's most extensive research databases on corporate sustainability. Based on a rigorous and rules-based methodology, the CSA forms the research backbone of the globally recognized Dow Jones Sustainability Indices. We also use the insights derived from the CSA in our entire range of asset management products and services.
